MUSIC

Lazy Sin is a Brussels 's rock band established in 2014. After two demo tapes Teepee Apache, The Old Shack, and a first EP, Fit Your Shoes, in which you can get a glimpse of the different musical genres that characterizes the band, they went in studio to give birth to a second record, La Purée, 2019.

For this record, the band worked with a member of the great Belgian band Ghinzu. Lazy Sin offers a music that is at the crossroads of Blues, Rock'n roll, Shoe gaze, Garage, Psyche and Pop loaded with energy, exuding a very particular and personal sound. Their music is like a journey of an American road movie you are the hero of. They behold a great reputation in live and their musical universe is genuinely in adequacy with the different personalities that compose the band.

They are now looking to travel new grounds and seek different crowds with their first album, La Purée.

BIO

"Long melodic vibes, hard riffs, smooth surf sounds riding the waves of psychedelic garage tinted waters in a pop mellow dynamic world" is what would come to the nearest to describe Lazy Sin's music.

The band members always struggled naming the style of sound that emanates from their souls and brains. Needless to say, it is filled with genuine emotions of passion and love for the music that they grew up with.

Driving from post-rock through blues and rock'n roll, winding through landscapes of French pop with a pit stop in Trenchtown, Jamaica.

Never have they settled themselves in one particular music scheme. As long as it caresses their ears and reflects their needs in terms of sound and musical anatomy, it is splashed heavily into their universe.

Eternally keen on surprising and hanging listeners in cold suspense, never knowing what would be around the corner.

This continuous method of gathering and embracing all types of different vibes and genres helps the band create and sprout to new dimensions. Nevertheless, the seed has been planted in a rich ground from which they hardly flee from.

Perhaps, the fact of knowing each other for more than a decade now has created this unique and special bond. Friends and music build a great ship to sail through troubled but joyful waters.

After a two-year break, but with already 50 shows across Benelux, they are back and hungrier than ever with their album , La Purée (2019).

« S'il est un groupe qui ne lésine pas sur l'art de prendre le temps, à ne confondre en aucun cas avec de la paresse, c'est certainement Lazy Sin. Qui balance une "Purée" super chill et sauvageonne à souhait. » (If there is one group that doesn't skimp on taking its time, not to be confused with laziness, it is certainly Lasy Sin. They throw a super chilled and feral « Purée ».)
